FATHER HARRY

A MAN FOR OTHERS

AMDG! Ad Majorem Dei Gloriam, the motto of the Society of Jesus, perfectly describes the ministry and legacy of the late Father Harry Tompson, S.J., who lived the Gospel through his words and works “for the Greater Glory of God.” WLAE is proud to present this tribute to Father Harry, and invites you to join us in honoring him by becoming a supporting partner for this inspirational documentary film. From his education at Jesuit High School to his early ministry as a Jesuit Priest in Grand Couteau, young Harry Tompson soaked up the spiritual lessons he learned and put them into action. His exceptional homilies, deep compassion for all of God’s children, and his mission to serve the poor and suffering transformed countless lives across the city of New Orleans and South Louisiana, and his legacy continues today.

Fr. Harry’s larger-than-life faith, passion, personality, sense of humor and determination made him a spiritual giant with the ability to organize teams of people to provide food, shelter, a quality education, job training, and a safe environment for those who had nothing.

His legacy took root during his 13-year span as Principal, then President of Jesuit High School in New Orleans, and later as Spiritual Director at Manresa Retreat House in Convent, Louisiana, where he taught by example the importance of love and service to God and others to thousands of students, parents and retreatants throughout South Louisiana.

When Father Tompson became Pastor at Immaculate Conception Church in Downtown New Orleans, he attracted large congregations, welcomed the homeless who were turned away elsewhere, and turned the parish center into a homeless shelter. A champion for social justice with a booming voice and bellowing laugh, Father challenged and empowered the despairing to rise above the ravages of poverty, gave them the helping hand they needed for a brighter future, and celebrated their success.

He founded Boys Hope/Girls Hope of Greater New Orleans to help gifted but disadvantaged kids succeed in life, and Cafe Reconcile, a bustling restaurant offering job training and life skills for inner-city youth. Through the very end when he was battling terminal cancer, he continued to serve others by laying the groundwork for Good Shepherd School, a Nativity-based program that gave quality education to those who could least afford it. His ministry in the parish center later became the Harry Tompson Center, serving the homeless with safe shelter, hot meals and valuable resources to help rehabilitate their lives.

Providing for his flock’s physical, mental, and spiritual growth, Father Harry Tompson, S.J. was, and still remains a Man of Faith and A Man for Others.
